In Memoriam

Please accept this Heinz blown glass Christmas tree ornament as a special remembrance of Janet Savage. Christmas was a very special time to Janet…she loved decorating for Christmas as well as giving and receiving presents. I hope that when you and your family decorate and display your Christmas tree each year that you will remember her love and friendship for you.

Janet was born and raised in Pittsburgh…home of Heinz. Being an avid collector of advertising, I had picked up this Christmas tree ornament on her last trip back to Pittsburgh at the History Museum Gift shop. Methodist Hospice here in Memphis recently had a Christmas Tree Memorial Service to celebrate the lives of those they have served. Each family was asked to bring a Christmas tree ornament to honor their loved one. I, of course, selected the Heinz pickle ornament to honor Janet.

I know Janet would want me to share this gift with some of her special friends and family. Wishing you the very best this holiday season.

This pickle features the classic Heinz logo on a wonderfully frosted glass pickle. A very special tradition that began in Germany…families would decorate their tree on Christmas Eve. For good luck, the last ornament to be hung was the pickle! The mother and father would hide the pickle in the green boughs of the tree. The first child to find the pickle would receive an extra gift left by Santa! An enjoyable tradition for your family to adopt this Christmas season!
